National Science Bowl® Update: Only 16 Teams Remain in the Middle School Competition

Washington D.C. – The field of middle school finalists in the Department of Energy National Science Bowl® has narrowed, and now only 16 middle school teams remain in the competition.

The teams remaining are:

- Acadia Middle School, Clifton Park, New York
- BASIS Peoria (Middle School), Peoria, Arizona
- Burleigh Manor Middle School, Ellicott City, Maryland
- Daniel Wright Junior High School, Lincolnshire, Illinois
- East Lyme Middle School, Niantic, Connecticut
- Farragut Middle School, Knoxville, Tennessee
- Jonas Clarke Middle School, Lexington, Massachusetts
- Ladue Middle School, St. Louis, Missouri
- Lincoln Middle School, Pullman, Washington
- Longfellow Middle School, Falls Church, Virginia
- Preston Middle School, Fort Collins, Colorado
- Princeton Charter Middle School, Princeton, New Jersey
- Suncrest Middle School, Morgantown, West Virginia
- The Harker School (Middle School), San Jose, California
- Winston Churchill Middle School, Carmichael, California
- Wisconsin Hills Middle School, Brookfield, Wisconsin

The top two teams will receive $2,500 to take back to their schools to support their science departments.

The top four teams will receive $2,000, the top eight teams will receive $1,500, and the top 16 teams will take home $1,000 for their schools' science departments.

Altogether, nearly 10,000 high school students and more than 5,000 middle school students from all 50 U.S. States, District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico participated in this year's regional competitions.

DOE created the National Science Bowl® in 1991 to encourage students to excel in mathematics and science and to pursue careers in these fields. Approximately 325,000 students have participated in the National Science Bowl® since its creation. Students may sign up to compete in next year's National Science Bowl competition beginning in October.

DOE's Office of Science manages the National Science Bowl® and sponsors the finals competition.
