

Frederic H. Fahey, DSc, has been the Director of Nuclear Medicine/PET Physics at Boston Children's Hospital and an Associate Professor of Radiology at Harvard Medical School since 2003. He received his Doctor of Science from the Harvard School of Public Health in Medical Radiological Physics in 1986. Prior to coming to Boston Children's Hospital, he had worked at Georgetown School of Medicine from 1984 to 1991 and Wake Forest School of Medicine from 1991 to 2003. He served as president of the Society of Nuclear Medicine and Molecular Imaging in 2012-2013. He is a fellow of both the American College of Radiology and the American Association of Physicists in Medicine. His research interests include PET and SPECT instrumentation, image processing, reconstruction of tomographic data and the radiation dosimetry, particularly in the realm of pediatric nuclear medicine. He is actively involved in the Imaging Gently and Image Wisely campaigns as they pertain to nuclear medicine.
